"Robyn Parkinson is the definition of 'Jack of All Trades'. The difference is, she's a master of them all too. Robyn is a creative spirit who can produce excellent artwork in a range of media, from carving to quilting. She is also willing to support others find their creative side, which she does every week as a desk duty volunteer at Feilding Art Centre. Whenever Robyn is on the desk, any member of the public visits Feilding Art Centre is sure to have a positive experience. Robyn always has something positive to say about the artwork on display and is great at promoting the work of her peers. She also is encouraging of other budding artists and will always refer someone to a class or group session if she thinks they'll enjoy it. And if that's not enough, she'll always offer you a cup of tea. Robyn truly is the embodiment of a great volunteer and we're proud to have her as the face of Feilding and District Art Society every Wednesday."
